

FAQ:

What does KF mean?

Korean Filter (Patented technology)

What is the difference between the 94 and 95 that we hear about in N95 masks?

The difference is 1% filtration.

(KF95 and higher are not exportable)

What is melt blown filter?

It is a special processing non-woven fabric that blocks fine dust and viruses.

What is a salt filter?

It is a patented nonwoven fabric with salt particles blended within the melt blown filter to further block fine contaminants and kill viruses.

What is 2D and 3D?

This is referring to the folds, 2D has 2 sides and 3D has 3 folds you will open to wear.

What is nonwoven fabric?

A compound covering of fiber material mainly used for medical filters.

What is KATRI?

Korea's best testing institute that carries out tests, inspections and certifications. (Equivalent to FDA testing)

What is CE certification?

CE stands for "Conformité Européenne", compliance with all applicable European health, safety, performance and environmental requirements.

All masks have been approved for medical use, but are not considered surgical masks.